The ESD magnifying glass mixes plenty of light and offers a high level of magnification in order to optimally recognize the smallest parts and components and to protect them from uncontrolled discharge.

TECHNICAL DESCRIPTION

Risk factor loupes and lighting! At the ESD workstation, sensitive components must not be exposed to an electrostatic field of more than 100 V / cm. There is a high risk due to the use of highly rechargeable materials such as glass or plastic. Above all, loupes and lights are dangerous because they are often used very close to the product. An electrostatic discharge can also occur via the air, it is not always a direct contact necessary. For this reason, only use ESD-safe lighting like this item, in accordance with DIN EN 61340-5-1.
